

LECTURE SERIES

FALL 2012

Thursday to Saturday, September 6-8
Brazilian Studies Association (BRASA) Congress.

Tuesday, September 11 (2pm)

Herbert Klein, Director of the Center for Latin American Studies. Professor of History & Fellow of the Hoover Institution. Stanford University & Gouverneur Morris Professor of History at Columbia University
The Free Afro-Brazilians in a Slave Society

Thursday, September 13

Efrain Kristal, Professor and Chair, Department of Comparative Literature, UCLA
Sara Castro-Klaren, Professor Latin American Culture and Literatures, John Hopkins University
Peruvian writers: Mario Vargas Llosa and Jose Maria Arguedas

Friday, September 21-Thursday, September 27

2012 Latin American Film Festival. Art Theater, Champaign

Thursday, October 4

Jerry Davila, Jorge Paulo Lemann Professor of Brazilian History
White Skin, Black Masks: Brazilian Performing Africanness in the South Atlantic

Tuesday, October 9 (2pm)

Argelina Figueiredo. Professora do Instituto de Estudos Sociais e Políticos da Universidade Estadual do Rio de Janeiro (IESP-UERJ)
Minority Government in Latin American Presidentialism: Political and Institutional Determinants

Thursday, October 18

Korinta Maldonado, Ph.D. Anthropology
Residual neoliberal multiculturalism and indigenous formations in Mexico's security state: The case of the Totonac of Huehuetla

Thursday, October 18, 5:30pm (Place TBA)

Michael Schreffler, Chair and Associate Professor of Art History, Virginia Commonwealth University
Cuzco 1643

Tuesday, October 23

Joseph Love, Professor Emeritus, History. Former director Lemann Institute
The Revolt of the Whip

Thursday, October 25

David Mares, Director, Center for Iberian and Latin American Studies. Professor, Political Science, University of California, San Diego
Resource Nationalism in Latin America: Concepts, Politics and Policy

Thursday, November 1

Anita Chan, Assistant Professor, Media and Cinema Studies
Hacking Digital Universalism: De-scripting Technological Design in the Andes

Friday-Saturday, November 2-3, 101 International Studies Building
Tinker Pre-Dissertation Summer Field Research Workshop

Tuesday, November 6 (2pm)

Pamela Capps-Toro, Ph.D. Student, Spanish, Italian and Portuguese
El Corte, Afoxé and Carnaval: Re (imagining) Afro descendant Music under Dominican and Brazilian Dictatorships

Thursday, November 8

Andrew Eisen, Ph.D. Student, History
This is a Cold War": Militarization and Migration along the U.S.-Mexico Borderlands, 1945-1955

Thursday, November 15

Damaris Canache, Associate Professor, Political Science
Determinants of Discrimination in Latin America

Thursday, November 29

George Reid Andrews, Distinguished Professor and Chair. History, University of Pittsburgh
Racial Inequality in Brazil and the United States, 1990-2010

PLACE 101 International Studies Bldg, 910 S. Fifth St. Champaign

TIME All sessions begin at NOON unless otherwise noted above

Center for Latin American and Caribbean Studies